

Sandy Says:

I met the happiest man in Kingston yesterday. Somebody gave him a razor, for which he had been securing cheap blades, feeling he had to economize.

The other day he picked up his old Durham, bought a package of the new 1934 Durham Duplex blades, for which he paid a few cents more than for the ones he had been using.

Now he knows that economy is not how much per blade, but how much per shave. And what a shave! Get a Durham Duplex and do likewise. Your dealer has them—with blades men swear by—not at.

Government Bugology
The Smithsonian institute boasts a collection of more than 4,200,000 bugs in its division of insects. Each of the many specialists assigned to the division concentrates upon one type of the insects which arrive by the hundred every day from all of the states and even from the other continents.

PREFERS WILD LIFE TO EASE OF WEALTH

Canadian Nomad Trader Inherits Big Fortune.

Vancouver, B. C.—A son of the English aristocracy leading a nomadic life in his 24-foot fishing boat, La Bata, on the northern coast of British Columbia, has inherited $300,000, and probably doesn't know it.

He may not learn of Dame Fortune's smile for months, although the news will be broadcast from time to time in hopes that he may pick up the message. Friends here say that even if he does he may not reply as he has absolutely no use for money other than sufficient to get along with.

When he does receive the message he probably will shrug his shoulders and say: "Well, that doesn't worry me," and then carry on as a Pacific coast trader dealing in tobacco, groceries and hats with Indians and white settlers at the little fishing and mining villages of the North.

Doesn't Touch Cash.

Jack Grammarly Smith, whose uncle, Percival Clive Smith of London, died recently and left him the fortune, is that type of Englishman. When an aunt died one year ago and left him $50,000 Jack decided to let the cash remain on deposit in the British capital. As a result he has been credited with the enormous increase in exchange on sterling that occurred since then.

To help a friend dispose of some lottery tickets, shortly after last New Year's day, he purchased two and won $50 on each of them.

After spending a brief holiday at the festive season in New Westminster on Fraser river, Jack assisted several returned men with his lottery prize money then left for his coast. His sympathies are with the war veterans as he spent four years overseas and was wounded by shrapnel in France.

In Canada Thirty Years.

He came to Canada thirty years ago. His first job was in a pole camp. While fellow lumbermen worked in overalls, Jack wore the conventional English gray flannel trousers, white shirt open at the neck, sometimes wearing a collar and a tie on the job.

After the war he bought a Columbia river fishing boat, furnished it comfortably and equipped it with numerous volumes of the classics and a radio and has lived aboard alone ever since.

He smokes an old briar pipe and is totally indifferent to conventions of society and distinctions in social relations, deriving great enjoyment in meeting and conversing with the kind people of the North.

Before leaving he remarked to friends that his uncle was very sick and would probably leave him an inheritance, "but that won't bother me. Money is the least of my troubles."

He intended to meet a friend north of Prince Rupert and go prospecting for a change.
If they have started into that wild country east of the Alaskan Panhandle, it may be months before he learns of the inheritance from his relative.

Smuggling of Gold Into Canada Is on Big Scale

New York.—The bootlegging of gold threatens to replace the bootlegging of liquor. An arrest has just been made on the Canadian border, which is believed to indicate that gold smugglers recently have carried $1,000,000 worth of the precious metal out of the United States. The situation of the gold prices is unique in history, and threatens to develop countless bootleggers of the yellow metal into foreign countries, experts say.

Under the present law the assay offices and the mints cannot pay more than $20.67 an ounce for gold, while the Reconstruction Finance corporation is buying gold daily for almost twice this price, that is newly mined gold. Secondary gold recovered from old gold and scrap is not purchased by the government at this higher price, and actually is glutting the market. The gold in both cases has exactly the same purity and is "as good as gold." By bootlegging this "secondary gold" into foreign countries where an open gold market exists, an enormous profit is realized which makes the old fashioned bootlegging of liquor seem trifling by comparison.

New Machine Translates at Twist of the Wrist

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—The late Dr. Octavio Cordero's mysterious Metaglots machine, guaranteed to translate any one language into any other by a twist of the wrist, soon will be offered to the public.

Octavio died two years ago at Quito. Since then his brother, Alfonso, has experimented repeatedly, and announced that he had produced the first actual Metaglots. Of portable size, the first Metaglots is said to carry 2,000 transposable words each of nine leading languages.

The first work translated on the machine, it was announced, was Edgar Allan Poe's poem "The Raven."

Ridgeman Seedling

Engene, Ore.—Tests in molecular coordination conducted by the psychology department of the University of Oregon showed that members of the university rifle team excelled all others. Tests were given to athletes in all branches, to swimmers, draftsmen, and students selected at random.

New Paltz Normal School Activities

New Paltz, March 22.—Following are some of the alumni who came to New Paltz for the week-end and enjoyed the festivities of alumni week-end: George Masterson, Lewis Countryman, Marjorie Tibbo, Florence Seward, Dorothy Plankle, Lois McNary, Stanley Hoffman, Bruce Hulbert, Virgil Stratton, Helen Wilson, Martha Stevens, Mildred Ross, Mylah Boyer, Edna Fringer, Margaret Aulerio, Grace Filterer, Florence Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Oakley, Grace Woodcock, Mary Rushforth, Eleanor Malloy, Katherine Perry, Robert Connolly, Elsie Forshaw, Katherine Glancey, George Hart, Myron Miller, Mabelle Myers, Helen Park, Genevieve Williams, Marjorie Wilson, Edith Smith, Betty Schacklette, Marion Halstead, Bus Peterson, Ely Weiner, Helen Wright, Frederick Johnson and many others.

Miss Ruth Bennett recently addressed a congregation of Girl Scouts and Campfire Girl Leaders in Syracuse. She also visited several college teachers with whom she studied under, while at Syracuse University.

Dr. Roland Will visited Radio City in New York Friday night. He and Prof. Bruce Bennett attended the convention of school publications at Columbia University over the week-end.

At the meeting of the Newman Club held in Colonial hall on Monday night their guests were the members of the debating team of the College of New Rochelle.

Miss Jessie Prisch spent the week-end with a friend in Newark, N. J.

Miss Edna Taylor, assistant librarian, and Miss Clark gave talks to the Reading Methods class of Mrs. Hene Compton last week.

The Endrath Club held a cookie sale in the halls of the school on Monday. Helen Tilly was chairman. In the evening at 8:15 the club members left the school for the county farm, where they conducted a song service. March 27, the third quarter play will take place in the gymnasium of the training school, at 1 o'clock, after which the primary games will follow. After the games and dances by the children, which are free, Miss Peeler will be assisted by the training school faculty and serve tea and cakes in the cafeteria, receipts to be used for the emergency lunch fund.

The Fifth Grade children are working on a play named "The Tapestry Chamber."

Easter vacation will begin March 28.

A musical program was given by the Fifth Grade in their morning club on Thursday as follows: Ukulele solo, Don Hoffman; violin solo, "Long Ago," by Helen Vaverka, who also played "America;" piano solo, Bobby Glanz; clarinet solo, Gerald DuBois; trumpet solo, Alfred Will; a Jew's hazy number, "Billy Boy," played by Harold Miller.

Dr. Mark O'Neare of Kingston recently talked to the students in the seventh and eighth grades on "Becoming a Good Citizen."

The Misses Marjorie Heatt, Eleanor Lewis and Emily Paliser attended the St. Patrick's formal dinner dance sponsored by Beacon Lodge of Elks at Memorial Hall, Beacon, on Saturday night. Music was by Roger Baer and his orchestra.

The annual supper dance of the Junior High Club in April, will be carried out with decorations and favors of spring flowers which will represent a garden. The decorations are in charge of Harriett Endeinstein, favors and place cards, Evelyn Meyer, music, Arthur Chipp, arrangement of menu, etc., Mrs. Collis, advertising, Frances Santoro. Other members will assist each of the above.

Miss Jennie Lee Dunn and Miss Maude Richards of the faculty entertained the freshmen chorus at tea at their home on Prospect street Tuesday afternoon, March 20.

In chapel on Tuesday morning Dr. Lawrence H. Vandenberg accepted for the school the stage furnishings given by the class of 1933. The Student Council under the chairmanship of Dorothy Keddy, president, continued the chapel programs. Members of the Student Council placed before the student body various rules and regulations recently adopted. The speakers were as follows: Helen Fogarty, "Etiquette in the Halls"; Robert Walker, "Regarding Smoking in the School Building on From Night"; Doris Shaefer, on "Specials"; Jane Elston, on the new section of the Student Council has on the bulletin board; Ruth Hatch, invited students to attend Student Council meetings; Harriette Smellie, about social room etiquette; Robert White, about lateness for school. Student Council granted "open night" to those students desiring to attend the Study Club lectures in the auditorium on Tuesday night. Miss Bertha Bennett of the Training School accepted the check from the Freshman Class for the training school milk fund. Dr. Vandenberg stressed the importance of abiding by the rules set up by Student Council. The chapel hour concluded with a two-act play, "Franklin's Forbidding," given by members of the Junior High School.

Kingston Was Air-Minded
During the Early 1900's

Harry Hicks, Balloonist, Lost His Life in Hudson River on Memorial Day Flight in 1902—When Local Man Went Aloft in a Balloon in 1911—Kingston Aero Club Organized Same Year—Interesting Notes of Those Early Days.

"There he goes," was the cry that broke the silence of the town as the balloonist ascended into the air. The crowd gathered on the river bank, watching the balloonist as he floated away from the shore.

The first ascension made from Kingston in a gas balloon was in the year 1860 by a Frenchman, Paul de la Motte, who started from the Academy green and descended near the "Mongolian."

After the close of the Civil War, in 1865 or '66, an ascension in the gas balloon "The City of Paris" was made by the Brooks brothers, then well known aeronauts. They were accompanied by a Kingston man named Ed Clay. The Brooks made up all night and descended near Pittsfield, Mass.

Toward the close of the 60's a man named Pierce made an ascension from near the circus grounds and landed near America. From the circus grounds in '72 the then famous trapezist, Leona Dare, made an ascension. She clung to the bar of the trapeze suspended beneath the basket until a great altitude had been reached, when she climbed into the car.

Following the skyride of Secretary Hoehn interest in aviation became more pronounced in Kingston and on the evening of June 14, 1911, a meeting of those interested in the sport was held at the residence of Ralph K. Forester on Pearl street.

The body of the aeronaut was not recovered until later although men from rowboats grappled for the body where it was last seen in the river, but it was not until later that the body was recovered.

Young Hicks was employed by Prof. Charles Kabrich to make balloon ascensions at Kingston Point Park during the months of June and July of that year. This fateful trip aloft was Hicks' first trip from Kingston Point Park, although he had made a number of successful ascensions and parachute jumps in other cities.

In later years other balloonists came to Kingston and made ascensions. Older residents may recall the monkey that was sent aloft in a balloon, his body chained to a parachute and a lighted candle that burned through the rope holding the parachute fast to the balloon after it had reached a certain height.

Again on July 29, 1906, at the Ellenville fair there was a near tragedy when Mrs. Mary Roper had her leg caught in the guy rope and was carried aloft by the balloon but was rescued from her perilous position.

Kingston Men Aloft. It was in May of 1911 that Leo Stevens, a well known balloonist of that day, came to Kingston with his new balloon, the "Stevens 27," and accompanied by Charles J. Walsh and Secretary William F. Hoehn, of the local Chamber of Commerce, made a balloon ascension from Kingston Point Park and after a flight of five hours and a half the balloon landed at Erving, Mass., without a mishap.

What Mr. Hoehn Wore. Mr. Hoehn, the general secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, when the balloon landed in Erving, telephoned his wife of his safe landing. The Freeman reporter writing of the start of the trip said "At 9:40 o'clock this morning the large balloon 'Stevens 27' rose majestically into the air, bearing in the basket the well known aeronaut, Leo Stevens, the designer, builder and owner of the balloon, an assistant, Charles J. Walsh of Kingston, and the intrepid secretary of our Chamber of Commerce, William F. Hoehn. As this morning was not what might Since those early days of not so long ago the airplane has become a common sight in the sky, and many of Kingston's residents have taken a trip aloft in planes from the Kingston Airport, just outside the city on the other side of the Esopus creek.

The matter of a municipal airport for Kingston was also ardently advocated by former Commissioner E. E. Fossenden of the board of public works, but nothing definite was ever done.

The present Kingston Airport is a privately owned concern.

Not Caught Napping. SOME fact footwork led up to Henry Ford's announcement he had restored the $5-a-day minimum scale in his factories.

On March 12 the national automobile chamber of commerce, with which Ford hasn't been going along, met in Detroit and decided secretly to cut work hours in accord with the NRA plan.

The idea was to spring the announcement at the Washington NRA labor hearing March 14. But Ford heard about it, and came out with his $5-a-day news on March 12.

The chamber went into action and got out its own announcement, ahead of schedule, on the same day.

THE day of Postmaster General Clegg's berated resignation as democratic national chairman seems to be growing less and less definite.

One item put forward among democratic politicians is this: That he stay in until after the election. Then, if his friend and former assistant, the newly appointed Sumner O'Mahoney of Wyoming, should be defeated for reelection, O'Mahoney could be slipped into the chairmanship.

It is too early to forecast how that will turn out.

Administration officials, considering the financial straits for a sign of lowering credit facilities, were encouraged in a small way by the PWA's recent bond auction.

Municipal obligations taken in by the government only a few weeks ago because there was no other market for them were sold at a profit.

Old Bill Leegid's Oscar Some Angler

The Fox Owl That Squawks 25 Languages Including the Scand. nation. Korpis Trapper's Tale. Well supplied with Scandinavian Fish. Really Simple if You Know How. Says Ole Bill.

"How about staying over for a fish dinner," asked a club member of Old Bill Leegid, veteran trapper and hunter of the Shawangunk Mountains, as he dropped into the club room of Colonial Chapter, No. 666, of the Tall Story Club this morning.

"No inducement," retorted Ole Bill to the invitation. "How's that?" asked the member. "Cause I have plenty of fish to eat at home," replied Old Bill, "but if you made that a steak dinner, I might consider it."

"I didn't know you were an angler," interrupted the club member. "I ain't but Oscar is," replied Ole Bill.

"Oscar," said the club member. "That's my pet owl that speaks 25 languages, including the Scandinavian," explained Ole Bill, "but perhaps I never told you about how Oscar keeps me supplied with fish."

"Shoot it along," suggested another member of the club. "Well," continued Old Bill, dragging one leg over the arm of the chair, and puffing reflectively on his pipe, "some time ago I was awakened by the tempting odor of frying fish. I thought at first I was dreaming and turned over to take another snooze, but the odor proved too tempting and I rolled out of my bunk, and whether you believe it or not the fire in the fire place was lighted and a roaring fire blazing in while the skillet sizzled upon the stove. I thought at first Sambo had dropped in to see me, finding me asleep wanted to surprise me. I called out to him but got no answer. Then I hunted all over the shack and outside but the only living things around were Oscar and Tony, my black cat.

"Wall I gave it up I knew it was no ghost had cooked that fish but no matter who did it certainly tasted fine and hit the right spot. Wall, whether you believe me or not for a week I would be woke up every morning by the smell of frying fish, and I never could find any place around. I sure was stumped.

Finally I decided to play a trick on the one doing the cooking act and stayed awake most of the night. Along about daybreak in came Oscar with a fish in his mouth. Now here's the funny part Oscar with the help of Tony sliced that fish open and cleaned it. Then Tony got up close to the fireplace and true as I'm sitting here Oscar started rubbing Tony's fur the wrong way with his beak and you should have seen the sparks fly. Finally some of the sparks fell into the fireplace and quicker than you could wink your eye a fire started blazing in the fireplace.

Yes, sir, you know there is a lot of electricity in a cat's fur but that was the first time I ever saw it used to light a fire with.

"Huh," grunted a club member "where did Oscar get the fish?" "I'm coming to that," said Ole Bill. "The next morning I sneaked out of the shack early and followed Oscar. He walked down to the brook and stood on the bank. Then, whether you believe me or not, Oscar would make a noise like a worm. A fish would come to the surface looking for the worm, and snap Oscar had him fast in his beak.

"Between Oscar and Tony," said Ole Bill "I'm getting kinder lazy for I don't have to get out of bed and get my own breakfast. Now I am trying to teach em to bring my breakfast to me in bed, but you can't expect everything from an owl and cat, can you?"

Not Caught Napping. SOME fact footwork led up to Henry Ford's announcement he had restored the $5-a-day minimum scale in his factories.

On March 12 the national automobile chamber of commerce, with which Ford hasn't been going along, met in Detroit and decided secretly to cut work hours in accord with the NRA plan.

The idea was to spring the announcement at the Washington NRA labor hearing March 14. But Ford heard about it, and came out with his $5-a-day news on March 12.

The chamber went into action and got out its own announcement, ahead of schedule, on the same day.

THE day of Postmaster General Clegg's berated resignation as democratic national chairman seems to be growing less and less definite.

One item put forward among democratic politicians is this: That he stay in until after the election. Then, if his friend and former assistant, the newly appointed Sumner O'Mahoney of Wyoming, should be defeated for reelection, O'Mahoney could be slipped into the chairmanship.

It is too early to forecast how that will turn out.

Administration officials, considering the financial straits for a sign of lowering credit facilities, were encouraged in a small way by the PWA's recent bond auction.

Municipal obligations taken in by the government only a few weeks ago because there was no other market for them were sold at a profit.

NATURAL ARCH OF THE FOOT.

When a recruit complained of flat or aching feet, the first request of the medical officer was to see his shoes. If the shoes were well worn on the other side of the heel and to some extent on the outer side of the sole, the recruit was sent back to duty.

Why? Because a foot that is weak—weak arches—allows the inner side of the foot to come down to the ground instead of being held up by the arches. In fact the first treatment in early weak or flat foot is to put a piece of leather about one-eighth of an inch thick on the inner side of each heel, which raises the inner side of the heel and throws the weight on the outer side where it should be.

The first symptom of fallen arches is pain in the arch after walking or standing. The pain may extend up to the calf, and in a number of cases may extend to the buttock—the huge muscles on which we sit—and even up to the lower back. Many cases of headache and even headache are due to weak feet.

When the feet ache the natural tendency is to rest them, but more than rest is needed if the arches are to be made strong.

The process of strengthening the arches is a slow one but a few weeks' patient treatment may prevent the need for cast supports.

Every morning, and at least once more during the day, you should walk a number of times around the room or office—anywhere in fact, on the outer sides of the feet with the toes turned in. This "arches" up the foot, strengthening the muscles which hold up the arches. When barefooted, attempting to pick up a marble or other object with the toes, likewise gives the foot the "arch" shape, which raises the arch.

It must be admitted that this treatment requires time and patience, but the spring of natural arches is a real tonic to the spirit, for most of us earn as much money as we get as much pleasure from the use of our feet as we do from the use of our head.

If the progress is unsatisfactory, see an orthopedic physician, who will arrange to fit you with artificial arches if your own cannot be brought back to normal or to nearly normal.

Artificial arches are the last resort; don't make them the first.

Norman, tomorrow, throws another monkey wrench.

JUDY, Judy, don't do that; don't cry like that," Norman was there. He was holding her in his arms, picking her up, carrying her to his den to hold her in his arms in a deep chair. "There, there, Judy."

"She called you a fool," he told you to stay and you... you did," sobbed Judy.

"If I'd stayed, would I have been here?" questioned Norman with masculine logic.

Judy reached for the handkerchief he offered. Her own, a sudden small ball, had been discarded en route. "No," she choked, then reluctantly, as though realization of what he said had penetrated—"No, you were here when I came in, weren't you?"

"Yes, I stood at the window and watched you admiring your work all the way up the hill. You have no modesty at all, Judith Dale. Look at the poor lily you plucked, crushed..."

Judy sat up, looked at the lily, then her husband. "My nose shines and it's all red, isn't it?" "Isn't it shine, or doesn't it red?" he teased. "Yes to both."

These Billions! THE impression grows that Mr. Roosevelt will end the fiscal year, June 30, with a far smaller treasury deficit than the seven billions he forecast; but that may not mean quite what is indicated on the surface.

Upwards of five billions remain to be spent. The President is making his budget plans on a two-year basis, however; most of the emergency appropriations legally can be carried over to next year if unused.

Next fiscal year will see heavy spending, and the first real balance will be struck on June 30, 1935.

Around the postoffice department special responsibility for the air mail cancellations is attributed to Karl Crowley, the department's secretary.

Crowley is a Fort Worth, Texas, lawyer, once a member of the Tennessee legislature, delegate to two democratic national conventions. He probably will have more to say about the contract later.

The first case in 1925 was dismissed within a year.

Uncover Indian Temple

LaFollette, Tenn. An ancient Indian temple, said by Tennessee valley authority archaeologists to be the only one of its kind ever found in the eastern section of the United States, is being explored near here. Thus far four rooms have been uncovered. The walls are made of stone and burned clay. Objects found in the temple are unlike others found in Indian mounds in this section. The ruins will be flooded when the Norris Dam is completed.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are sent in their return post always enclosed. They help bring about that natural beauty which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

WHY

Meat Spoils in Refrigerators Is Easily Explained

Why meat spoils in a refrigerator is easily explained. It is a simple matter of fact and is explained by the fact that meat is a food and is subject to the same laws of decay as any other food.

The meat spoils in the refrigerator because it is a food and is subject to the same laws of decay as any other food. The meat spoils in the refrigerator because it is a food and is subject to the same laws of decay as any other food.

Why Safety Match Lights

When Scratched on Glass

It has often been noticed that safety matches will light when "scratched" briskly across a sheet of glass. To find the reason for this, we consulted the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research. Their reply follows:

"The tip, head, or ignition portion of the ordinary safety match contains potassium chlorate, sulphur and a binder, such as glue. The striking surface on a safety match box consists of amorphous phosphorus, antimony sulphide and an adhesive."

It is well known that an explosion results when potassium chlorate is ground with sulphur or other combustible material. When, therefore, a safety match head is "scratched" or rubbed hard on a glass surface, the friction is of the character and sufficiency to produce a reaction between the potassium chlorate and sulphur, causing ignition."

Why Left-Handed Tracks Are Used

A great many years ago the railroads of America were dominated financially by European interests, mostly Dutch and English. A number of Englishmen were sent here to operate the railroads and practically all of the first double-tracking was done and established with left-hand operation, and this continued until a good many miles had been constructed and so operated on the Erie, Fort Wayne Lake Shore and other railroads these roads being changed later to right hand running the last one being the Lake Shore, now the New York Central railroad, which was changed about fifteen years ago at a very heavy expense. The New York Central still operates two of its four-track system between Buffalo and New York left, and the others right hand. The Northwestern railroad has a number of lines considered the question, but has found the expense to be tremendous compared with the benefits to be obtained.

Why Shotgun Burst

When a shotgun barrel bursts you may be sure that the cause was some obstruction in the end of the barrel, not an overloaded shell or obstruction at the breach. This is the conclusion of Prof. William J. Conley of the University of Rochester, after experiments in which he used shotguns salvaged from junk shops. Double and triple loads had no effect on the ramshackle 12-gauge guns, but when the gun's muzzle was plugged with mud or snow the barrel invariably burst or bulged near the end. Even half an inch of soft snow in the muzzle resulted in an explosion of the gun held in a vise so violent that a piece of it flew back fifty feet and hit the door from behind which Professor Conley pulled the firing string—Science Service.

Why Party Is Called "Beanfeast"

"Why is any old jollification called a beanfeast?" The term is a colloquialism derived from the ancient Twelfth Night custom of hiding a bean in one slice of the cake. The one to whom it fell became king of the Revels.

Why Museum Is So Called

The name was given by the ancients to a temple of the muses—seat of the muses. Naturally, it soon followed that collections of artistic objects were called museums, and then the building containing the collection was given the name.

Why Talk Is Called Glibberish

When we utter the word "glibberish," we allude to an Arabian alchemist of about the year 800, named Geber, who spoke an unintelligible jargon in order to protect himself against prosecution for heresy.

Why Egg Is Valuable Food

The yolk of an egg is a desirable food because it contains vitamins A, B, C, D, and G, a large amount of phosphorus, iron, and a little copper needed for blood building.

Why We Say "Nicknames"

In the English language, nicknames or the same appears as early as 1400. Possibly it comes from nick, meaning to cut, as a nickname is usually a cutting of the full name.

Principal Van Valkenburgh next presented Dr. Samuel Stern, a member of the American Prison Association, who is on the hospital staff of Nazanoo and Wallkill Prisons and Elmira Reformatory.

Dr. Stern gave an intensely interesting and informing talk on crime and criminals, giving a history of the prisons of our state. He asserted that New York state is far ahead of other states in prison reform, the reformatory at Elmira being the most modern and most humanely conducted penal institution in the world. Other states are copying it and delegates from many other countries have made visits of inspection. The prison at Wallkill is the only one of its kind in the world. It has no wall around it and the inmates are given more privileges than in other penal institutions. It is intended for men who have only a short term to serve and every effort is made to rehabilitate the men and prepare them to again take their places in society.

Dr. Stern spoke of the doing away in the modern prisons of such punishment as flogging by the thumbs, also by the wrists with only the toes touching the floor. The old idea was to punish the criminal, the new idea is to reform him and if possible, put him back as a useful member of society.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Miss Edelstein and to Dr. Stern for their parts on the program, after which ice cream and cake were served by the teachers and a social hour enjoyed, many gathering about Dr. Stern to hear further accounts of his experiences and knowledge of the subject.

Four-Year-Old Girl Killed by 2 Terriers

Old Died Eight Hours After Fatal Attack in Which She Was Severely Mangled — Had Taken Short Ride With Father.

Northam, Mass., March 22 (AP).—Dean 4 years old, is dead, the victim of a ferocious attack by two terriers.

The little girl died last night eight hours after the dogs attacked and mangled her. The dogs, caught and shot by constables, are to be examined at a laboratory to determine whether they had rabies.

Junice, daughter of George Dean, traveling salesman, rode a little way with her father yesterday when he started out in his automobile on a business trip.

Then she got out and started to walk back home. A little later a passerby, George Grimes, saw the two, both Boston terriers, tugging and growling at the girl, who lay unconscious. He drove them away and summoned aid.

Physicians said the dogs had torn all her clothing away and lacerated her body from head to foot.

Her father was notified as he drove through Leominster, and police furnished him a motorcycle escort, but he failed to reach his daughter's bedside before she died.

Famous Carpet
A unique carpet, stained with the blood of the murdered Russian Czar, Paul I., has been added to the Museum of Applied Arts in Leipzig. In 1782 the carpet was presented by the French king, Louis XVI, to Paul of Russia, who was then crown prince. Paul succeeded his mother, Catherine the Great, to the throne in 1796.

A DISH FOR TODAY

An appetizing, well-balanced spring-time evening meal can be easily prepared in the morning with the New York state college of home economics. This dish includes: Vegetable salad, whole wheat muffins, apple gingerbread cobble and milk.

Apple Gingerbread Cobble
1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sour milk
1/2 cup molasses
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 tablespoon cinnamon
1 1/2 tablespoons butter
4 apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Wash, core, pare, and slice the apples. Mix one-half cup of sugar with the apples and place in a buttered baking dish or in individual baking dishes of muffin pans. Sprinkle with lemon juice and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes as the batter is mixed.
Beat the egg, add the remainder of the sugar, the sour milk and molasses. Mix and sift the dry materials, and stir into the liquid ingredients; add the melted butter, mix well and pour the mixture over the hot apples and replace in the oven. Bake for thirty minutes at 350 degrees Fahrenheit or until the cake shrinks from edges of pan. Serve with any prepared sauce.

Cooley Retires
At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the New York Telephone Company held March 20 Victor E. Cooley, vice-president, was elected director in place of Tage P. Sylvan. The directors accepted the resignation of Mr. Sylvan as vice-president preparatory to his retirement from active duty with the company. Robert H. Boggs, now general manager in the Manhattan area, was appointed vice-president effective April 1, 1934, to succeed Mr. Sylvan in the direction of the personnel work of the company. The other directors and officers were re-elected.

Rat-Catching Snakes
Rat-catching snakes are employed by planters in Ceylon to protect their paddy fields. An efficient rat-snake costs five rupees, and if kept in the house will become as domesticated as a cat or dog.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The daybook of the week, perhaps the most important statement made in the past week, is the address of the President in the NRA conference. It was his reference to these critics who were "not in the country" is now considered a statement of the administration's attitude toward the opposition.

The administration has had that charge going at it for some time. It has been repeated with varying degrees of emphasis. It first was heard when President Roosevelt asked blanket authority to declare a national bank holiday. Every request for wide powers to bring about recovery, including the most recent one concerning the tariff, has brought the same cry.

One of the most persistent critics of the "new deal" from the standpoint of its constitutionality has been Representative Frank P. Rowland of Pennsylvania.

Claim NRA Unconstitutional
BECK, a former solicitor general of the United States and recognized as an authority on the constitution, steadfastly has maintained that such recovery agencies as the NRA have been set up in defiance of that document.

Senator Hastings of Delaware, chairman of the antitrust committee for the republicans this year, has raised the cry of dictatorship repeatedly.

Pamphlets released through the republican national committee have made the charge even more emphatically.

The administration is certainly not alone in its attitude. The congressional elections later in the year, Democratic up for reelection, will be charged by those who want their seats with surrendering to the President the powers rightfully belonging to congress.

The President is on record as being always a little amused and perhaps at times a little saddened at those who make such a charge against the administration.

Offers Campaign Fuel
The reply of the President, his first, to such critics doubtless will be caught up eagerly by supporters of the "new deal" in the coming elections.

Two days before the President's address an important administrative measure was before the house for decision. The familiar cry of this is another addition of the "size of congress" had been heard again. Sumners of Texas, chairman of the judiciary committee and, like Beck, an authority on the constitution, declared flatly:

"We have not changed our constitution or changed our government, but for the moment, seeing the existence of a great crisis, we have concentrated power in the executive."

"This urge came from the country and we have done it."

Palm Sunday Open House at Burgevin's

The Valentin Burgevin Inc. made the Palm Sunday promise last year that it would open its doors to the community for the purpose of being interested in their religious observance. At the greenhouses on the West street extension on Palm Sunday afternoon, they would contribute such a Palm Sunday open house as an annual event.

Last year the affair started with some 100 people. The outcome of the invitation to the public to that visit the greenhouses which were in the first year of their Easter business, and they were amazed at the outcome.

There were in the close neighborhood of 1,000 automobiles parked in the immediate vicinity of the rarely beautiful floral exhibition, and practically every car brought two or more visitors. All were shown through all of the greenhouses. As a result, Easter with its floral symbolism meant more than usual to a host of people.

Now Valentin Burgevin Inc. is making good its promise and is again inviting the public of the city and vicinity to visit the greenhouses on Sunday, March 25, Palm Sunday, during the afternoon, from 2 to 4 p. m. Attendants will show the guests about the conservatories, but there will be no sale of flowers or plants, though orders may be placed.

Upon the acceptance of this invitation will depend the generous continuance of this custom by the members of the House of Burgevin, another, in fact for many other years.

Talks to parents

Inherited Names
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Mrs. Chase did not like her Christian name and had always felt it a trial to have to bear it. She had complained of it so persistently that everyone avoided using it and called her by some variant of it instead.

Having no daughter, the question of perpetuating the name never arose until she began to be a grandmother, and then troubles began. Her daughter-in-law, who had heard Mrs. Chase's diatribes against her name, took it for granted she would not wish to hand it on and were therefore amazed when they found how strong her desire was to have a grandchild named for her.

It did not seem quite kind or fair to the baby, however, to wish on it a name which had for so long been a trial to its grandmother, and so a compromise was eventually made, much to the old lady's disgust.

Names have far more of an influence on a child's life than one might think and should be carefully pondered before being bestowed on a helpless baby. It is, of course, possible to change a name, but before the time comes when a child is ready to do this, his life may already have been made a burden by the teasing of his companions.

That a name is part of the family tradition, or borne by parents or grandparents, is not a valid reason for passing it on. Some names would be far better forgotten, as, for example, some of the extraordinary Puritan names or original compositions which at one time or another have been worn out of some fertile imagination.

Names are nearly as hard and fast an inheritance as are physical characteristics, but whereas the parents cannot control the color of eyes and hair, they have it in their power to alleviate the heritage of names.

The Human Engine
The human body is an engine. Apparently the thyroid is the throttle that determines how fast or how slow the engine shall run. In cases of congestive heart failure or angina pectoris it runs very fast. In a power plant under the same conditions the engineer in charge can take the load off the engine. Moreover, an automatic governor cuts off steam when necessary. Since there is no ball governor on the human engine to throw out its arms and reduce the energy supplied and utilized, the heart pounds itself to pieces. And the end is death.

Velours
The word "velours" is French, adopted into English, and has been used from 1706. The form velour is Old French. From 1890 velours has been used for velure, but since 1887, velure has been used for velvet.

Pointers on Poise

A line on the floor will help you acquire a correct walking position. This is the second in a series of 12 articles, written by an expert, telling how to acquire poise.

II. WALKING GRACEFULLY
By LAURA TOWNSEND DAVIES.
Have you ever observed how very few of us walk gracefully? Pick out a seam in a rug or a line on your floor. Place the center of one heel directly over the line and turn the toe slightly out until the line touches the inner side of the shoe at the ball of the foot. Now your foot is in the correct position for walking and standing.

Place the other foot about three or four inches ahead of the first already on the line, being sure the same position is achieved: center of heel on line, line touching ball of foot. Now walk this straight line. In other words, walk a straight line and not from side to side, duck-wise, as so many of us do. Oh, yes, we do!

Never mind if you wobble off that line the first few times you try to walk it. It is said the great Sarah Bernhardt walked a line daily for three months before she could do it easily. So take heart.

Next—Turning.

Milton's "Paradise Lost"
Milton's epic poem "Paradise Lost" was published in 1667. It appears that the first French translation was made by Dupre de Saint Maur in 1729 (three volumes). The first translation of the poem into a foreign language was into German. It was made in 1682. In 1729 the poem was translated into Italian. A Latin translation was made in 1686.

Use for Fire Break
A fire line—or, as it is more generally called, a fire break—in forestry is a belt of land from which trees and no derbrush are burned off as a protection against forest fires. The width depends on the fire hazard and the condition of the forest or cover. For underbrush alone, a strip only 6 feet wide may be sufficient, but it must be much wider in the case of tall timber.

It used to be sulphur and molasses but now it's delicious Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

WILL you ever forget the sulphur and molasses "spring tonic"? But times have changed. Today, we know that much of the listlessness of spring days results from common constipation.

This condition can be corrected by including plenty of "bulk" with meals. So today, instead of getting an unpleasant "spring tonic," you go to your grocer's for a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Two tablespoonsful of this delicious cereal daily furnish the "bulk" needed to help promote regular habits.

ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B, as well as a generous share of the iron you need in spring.

People who are really ill after the winter, of course, should consult their physicians. ALL-BRAN is simply recommended for common constipation—and is not a "cure-all."

The labels of bran cereals tell, now, whether they are all bran or only part bran. Get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—and avoid disappointment! At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Easily the world's most famous collector, Mr. Hind was first interested in stamps by his Utica business partner, the late H. B. Harrison. His suggestion that Hind pay a Utica physician $3,000 for a "collection" of 12,000 was followed, but only 500 of these were left when the owner died. He often said he had "eliminated them like weeds in a garden."

Total receipts of the auction have not been revealed. H's American collection, valued at $250,000 alone, was broken up there. Other stamps also were sold, but the bulk went to Erecting a bird house is only one way to attract birds. Drinking fountains, bird baths, and feeding shelves are other ways to make the feathered creatures comfortable and to draw them near the home.

Of special interest in connection with the "Open House" program to be held at the Y. W. C. A. on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, will be the first appearance of the Kingston Choristers, the new choral society, under the direction of Harry P. Dodge. The group will render "Rain" by Pearl Brown, and "The Snow" by Sir Edward Elgar. With the latter number will be a double violin obbligato played by Mrs. Florence Cuddey and Miss Eva Clinton. Miss Edna Newberry will be the accompanist for the club.

The program also includes a review of the current play, "Mary of Scotland," by Miss Ewen Van Slyke and cello selections by Mrs. J. T. Legg accompanied by Mrs. Richard Hignall.

THREE ACT COMEDY AT EPWORTH HALL

The three act comedy, "Sweet Water Trail," will be presented in Epworth Hall, Friday, March 23, by the Rosendale Players under the auspices of the Gem Society.

Following is the cast of characters: Capt. Terry O'Rourke, Charles Hanbrock; Col. Randolph, Clinton Van Nostrand; Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy; Mrs. Gaby, Mrs. George Kennedy; Mrs. Groves, Mrs. Grover Dunn; Mrs. Marlowe, John Regan; Mrs. Benson, Joseph O'Connor; Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Alice Regan; Mrs. Randolph, Mrs. Marian Clark; Mrs. Stella, Mrs. Myrtle DeMar; Mrs. Della, Mrs. Helen Fomeroy; Mrs. Wallie, Mrs. Edward Brodsky.

The scene is laid in a small village in North Western Canada. The play is directed by George Kennedy.

Music will be furnished by Miss Dorothy Keuhn and a short skit will be given by the "Smith Trio" between the acts.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding and protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine which salves and cuts out the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the rectal bowels causes piles. The veins are inflamed, the bowels weak—the piles are formed. Hemorrhoids are an internal disease. They can be cured by the use of an internal medicine. Hemorrhoids are a disease of the blood. They can be cured by the use of an internal medicine. Hemorrhoids are a disease of the blood. They can be cured by the use of an internal medicine.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal remedy. He called it Hemorrhoid Remedy. He described it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then added every Pile sufferer should be able to get Hemorrhoid Remedy from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Hemorrhoid Remedy can cure you? Hemorrhoid Remedy must show you the clean way to get rid of your Pile. Hemorrhoid Remedy—Ad.

Headache, Dizzy Spells

IF your nerves are frayed and you feel despondent, if you suffer from periodic pains or weakening drains ("whites"), turn to the right medicine. Dr.
 Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been helping women for the past 30 years. Here is the experience of Mrs. Henry Spencer, 106 Washington St., Lakewood, N. Y.: "I had no appetite, was in a very nervous, dazed-out condition. I had awful headaches and dizzy spells. I used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and regained my strength, and the headaches and nervousness disappeared."

LOOPS MY DEAR

New York—The arresting things are done with ribbon just now that it should interest every woman to look into the possibilities of ribbon, not only as a hat, but as a dress trimming and even more in the actual making of a garment.

Please note the charming ribbon cape shown in detail in today's sketch. Visually, as you should have no difficulty in doing, what a happy combination it makes with the frock making a point of a long line of loops beginning at the collar.

The most important role entrusted to ribbon is that of the sash. You must have noted that big, as well as little, sisters are wearing sashes just like mother's. Wide ribbons, velvet, taffeta or more usually are used for these bows which, big or little, are pinned in the time-honored position of sashes. Sometimes there are long ends, making lovely floating panels which, figuratively speaking, are banners trailing in the dust.
 It's important to know that little perky bows may be worn in the middle too. Sometimes there is one bow, and sometimes two, one at either side placed as the little ornamental pins are placed, either behind the ear or anywhere which seems best for the arrangement of curls.

There has been a perfect stampede for striped ribbons, and for plaids, too, wide enough to make gilets, bibs and "fronts" for suits, and there are any number of sleeveless blouses also fashioned from wide and colorful ribbons.

Lining the reverse side of the ribbon with a contrasting color, as shown in the sketch, naturally suggests that double faced ribbons may return to favor. It is so obviously a season in which two colors are better than one.

The flower corsage, revived with other pre-war fashions, is very often done with ribbon or organdie flowers rather than the usual artificial, or millinery, variety of flower.
 The corsage bouquet is centered at whatever level seems best. Sunflowers are very new and smart.

 hole at Chinese Camp, Cal. It is Navy blue grosgrain ribbon is front of this frock of navy flat companying capelet is also of the blue grosgrain. Sleeves and collar of the dress are of white grosgrain.

 the spring openings wherein ribbon plays a part.

twice as large as the modern penny and on its face are seven stars and an Indian head.

Parent-Teacher Associations

At the March meeting of the Federated Council, P.T. A. and Wednesday afternoon at Kingston
 High School, the secretary, Mrs.
 Stuart Jones, read letters from Secretary Wicks and Assemblyman Conway written in reply to letters sent them by the Council in relation to the State Education Bill and the Child Labor Bill. The Council voted to write the proper authorities in regard to a state education bill now being considered.

A letter was read from the National Music League who wished the Federated Council to sponsor a production of the opera "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdick. The Council thought favorably of this project and it is probable that a date will be set as soon as possible.
 The theme of the opera is the Brothers Grimm fairy tale so popular with children.

Mrs. W. R. Anderson called attention to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers' weekly broadcast over WEAF every Friday from 3:30 to 4 p. m. also to the fact that the state office at Albany is offering orange colored paper covers for publicity books at 25 cents for the two covers.

The program consisted of two talks on public speaking by pupils of Miss Tarrant. The first speaker, Dorothy Kaplan, divided the requisites for good speaking into three parts: Bodily control, voice and diction. She held that one should look directly at the audience, chest out, chin up, feet well placed and with pleasing, well modulated voice using clear, short concise sentences and simple, easily understood words, avoiding slang phrases, present the ideas as forcibly as possible.

Donald McDonald spoke about the preparation of the various kinds of speeches one is liable to be called upon to make, such as address of welcome, presentation, introduction, and after dinner speeches. He thought the introduction of a speaker should not be so flattering as to be embarrassing, but should tell who he is and why what he has to say is important, or his opinions on the subject valuable. He believed all addresses should have a plan or sort of blue print and anecdotes told should be to the point and illustrate some fact the speaker wishes to bring out.
 Mrs. Charles Abbott, Ulster county director, talked on the summer

Rosen, but underneath the sign was another saying, "But Cohen's Prices Haven't."

The speaker went on to say that he was trying to bring these points out in an effort to clarify the policy of the New York Times. He explained that the policy might be wrong, but the Times was endeavoring to protect its readers both from the standpoint of news and advertising. Most newspapers are up to certain standards. "A newspaper," said Mr. Donchian, "is really three separate departments, editorial, advertising and circulation, all dependent upon the other. Without advertising, a paper cannot exist, and advertising is worthless without a circulation, and the circulation comes only because the news in the paper is worth reading. Therefore, the Times feels a deep responsibility to its readers. That is the reason that news and advertising must measure up to the standard of the Times, or remain unpublished."

Mr. Donchian spent the remainder of his time answering questions and relating personal experiences as an overseas correspondent, especially in the Far East.

Legion Drum Corps Engaged by Weiners

The drum corps of Kingston Post, American Legion, famous as a prize-winning unit all over New York state, has been engaged by Weiner Hose Company of Kingston to lead in the parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association in Saugerties on June 21.
 Later C. Elmendorf, captain of the corps, has announced that he hopes to see the Legionnaires at their best for the fireman's celebration, surpassing even the prize-winning performances that have made them an outstanding unit at all of the ex-servicemen's conventions in New York state.

Trinity Lutheran Service
 English Lenten service will be held tonight at eight o'clock at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Home streets. The pastor, the Rev.
 William H. Pretzsch, will preach on the "Trial of Jesus Before Pilate."
 The public is welcome. Members may register for Holy Communion of the Holy Week in the vestry immediately after the service tonight.

Size of Africa
 Africa is larger in area than all Europe, including Siberia, all India and half of Australia combined.

Avoid False Teeth Dropping or Shifting

You needn't fear false teeth dropping or shifting if you'll sprinkle a little Faston on your plates each morning.
 Give all day comfort and teeth hold tight fastness. No gummy, sticky, messy feeling. Get Faston from Whelan's rear drugstore. Three times a day.

Old Park Hope of Cleveland, Hold-Out Ferrell A Problem

By RALPH WHEATLEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New Orleans, March 22 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are pinning high hopes for working up the baseball ladder by returning this year to the old league park where a ball can be hit over the fence and count as a home run.

They have had enough of the Municipal Stadium in Cleveland where a ball hit far enough to clear any fence in the league had fallen into the glove of an outfielder for a single out. This is blamed for the slump in batting averages rather than the hitting ability of the players.

Ferrell Gives Trouble

But the Indians have their troubles like all the rest and Walter Johnson, who took the manager's helm from Roger Peckinpaugh, is working by day and pondering by night to smooth them over.

One of his most serious worries is hold-out Wesley Ferrell, who until last year had won twenty or more games a year in four seasons for the Indians. The Indians had counted on him to return to form and produce the spark on the mound but it now appears that he plans to stay at home unless his contract is revised upward.

Banking on Brown

Johnson is shaping his team with Ferrell out and is banking on the new southpaw, Lloyd Brown, obtained from the Boston Red Sox in the Cissell deal. He is particularly anxious for Brown to come through as the Indians for four years have been in need of a top line left handed pitcher. For three years with Washington, Brown averages fifteen victories a year and has been showing good form in spring training.

The coaches also are working hard on Lefty Lee, up from Toledo, and if these two southpaws through, the absence of Ferrell would not be felt so strongly.

Problem At Second

From the pitchers' box, Johnston's worries turn to second base, where he is striving manfully to turn a third baseman into a second baseman. The trouble is that Odel Hale, who was switched from third to second, does not like to play second base and hopes that another candidate will appear. Knickerbocker is being groomed behind Hale and probably will share the second spot with him. At the time of the Cissell trade, the Indians had hoped to get Melillo from the St. Louis Browns but that did not pan out.

Some Satisfaction

Outside of these things and Harley Boss, the strong first baseman being hit, the situation in the Indian camp is satisfactory to the management.

Trucky has been to give support there, leaving Vosmik, Averill and Porter as the regulars in the back lot. Boss, Burnett, Kamm and Hale make up the present regular infield and the old standbys are behind the bat. Spencer, Myatt and Pytalik. The pitchers list includes Hudlin, Harder, Hildebrand, Conally, Clint Brown, Lloyd Brown, Lefty Lee, Monte Pearson and Ferrell if he reports.

(Tomorrow: Boston Braves).

Cunningham Adds Canadian Record

Hamilton, Ont., March 22 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the durable Kansan who cracked the world indoor mile record with his 4:08.4 performance last Saturday, today had the Canadian record for 1,000 yards to add to his collection.

Cunningham was clocked in 2:12.2 as he ran away from Phil Edwards, the Hamilton negro veteran, in the featured event at the 91st Highlanders Meet last night. The time was just one fifth of a second slower than the world indoor standard, which has stood against all assaults since Harold Cuthill established it in 1922.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Jack Bloomfield, 185, New York, threw Pat Faletti, 177, Italy, 39:20.

Chicago—Jim London, 200, St. Louis, won from Gino Garibaldi, 215, Italy, 50:03 (Garibaldi injured, unable to continue).

Columbus, O.—"Midget" Charley Fischer, 175, Butternut, Wis., defeated Carroll (Pink) Gardner, 175, Schenectady, N. Y.

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press
Bloom, Miss., March 22 (AP)—The master minds of the Washington Senators were ready today to do a bit of self-congratulation.

Johnny Stone, who was exchanged for Goose Goslin, and some congratulations in a trade with Detroit, came through with a bang. Another hit and three runs scored in during yesterday's 11 to 1 triumph of the Yankigans by the regulars.

Athletes

Fort Myers, Fla. (AP)—Mack, who scattered the Athletics of last year to the baseball winds, is reported arranging another trade.

Gossip says he will obtain Bob Weiland from the Boston Red Sox to meet the lack of a left-handed pitcher, and in exchange probably give Lou Finney, outfielder.

Phillies

Winter Haven, Fla. Manager Jimmy Wilson's prediction that the Phillies would hit is coming true despite those 21 scoreless innings at the start of "Orange" League competition.

Their 3-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday ended when, with three Phils on the bases and two out, Leslie Munns walked Ethan Allen to force in the winning runs.

Dodgers

Tampa, Fla.—Now that the Brooklyn Dodgers are here to play the Cincinnati Reds something may be done about their most determined holdout.

So far Lopez has been acting a little more than indifferent. In reply to a telegram from Quinn asking him to come to Orlando for a conference, Lopez replied:

"If you think meeting you will get me the salary I ask for, I would be more than glad to come. Otherwise I prefer to stay in Tampa."

Yankees

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, qualifies his predictions that the Yanks will win the American League pennant even in his more optimistic moods but he thinks they will come through if the pitching turns out to be as good as he thinks.

He believes Vito Tamulis, the left hander from Newark, has the makings of a regular and he expects Johnny Murphy to stick as a relief hurler.

Giants

West Palm Beach, Fla.—Phil Weintraub, who was just an outfielder from Chicago when the New York Giants opened training, has earned himself a rather peculiar position.

Despite his hard hitting in exhibition games Phil couldn't make much headway against the competition from Ott, Moore, O'Doul, Peel and Leiber.

So Manager Bill Terry shifted him to first base, where he is in competition with Terry himself and the veteran George Grantham.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

He's a one-eyed, one-haired youth, with the shoulders and legs of a prizefighter, which he was and a combination of hitting ability and color that stamps him as one of the coming big stars of major league baseball.

His name is Hank (Hank) Leiber. He's only 22 now but he has come along so fast in only two seasons of professional baseball that he probably will land a job this year as understudy to Joe Moore, the able left-hander and leadoff man of the world champion New York Giants.

All of which makes this blond youth from Phoenix, Ariz., a personality worth keeping an eye on during the next few years.

"If he doesn't make a great ball player for us before he gets through, I am one of the worst managers in baseball," says Manager Bill Terry. "There's still some rough edges to work off but he has real stuff in him, he's smart and he's ambitious."

Discovered By Art Neff

Leiber was discovered for the Giants by their famous scout, John McGraw's last championship club, Arthur Neff. Hank was better known for his line-bucking ability at the University of Arizona than his prowess on the baseball field or basketball court, but Neff was quick to detect the youth's real ability and recommend him to McGraw.

The spring of 1932 saw the big Arizona in camp with the Giants at Los Angeles. He played that year with the Winston-Salem club of the Piedmont league, clubbing the ball for a substantial average and showing a lot of ground covering ability for a 20-pounder whose two ankles were broken as a youngster.

The following winter he joined the Giant forces again and was one of the sensations of the exhibition trip back from California to New York. He made life miserable for most of the Detroit Tiger pitchers.

Backy Harris, the Detroit manager, told me that spring that he picked Leiber to be one of the greatest sluggers in the game, in due time and after further schooling.

To get the necessary experience Leiber was sent to Memphis in the Southern association, where he hit .356. He finished the season with Jersey City in the International League. He was nearly traded once to Brooklyn, at a time when the Giants were desperately in need of some seasoned talent like Lefty O'Doul and Watson Clark, but Terry finally decided to keep his strings on the youngster.

Big Leaguer Or Coach.

As to his hitting, Hank says he just takes a "healthy cut" at the ball. He's inclined to lunge a bit, through eagerness to connect, and he has not yet entirely solved the mysteries of the slow curve, but Terry has helped improve his style and judgment at the plate.

As for the future, if Leiber doesn't make the big league grade he is determined to be a college coach. He has three months of college work to finish before he gets a degree in physical education at Arizona and he is going to do it next fall and winter.

Sioux Five Defeats West Park Missions

Tuesday night at the Port Eads Reformed Church court the Sioux Five of that village went on their weekly warpath, this time against the West Park Missions, who were defeated by the Indians, 30-25, in two extra periods of play.

The game was fast and very close, with neither team gaining more than a five point lead on its opponent throughout the contest. At the time the score stood, 11-9, in favor of the Missions. In the last half the score sawsawed back and forth and at the final whistle the Sioux stood 23 all, which necessitated an extra period. At the end of this extra period, the score was again knotted 23 all, which brought on another overtime period. In this the Indians scored a field and a foul to one field for the Missions, which gave the Sioux the victory, 30-23.

Munson, of the Indians, led the scorers with 15 points while Mabel of the losers was close behind with 13. Much credit for the Sioux victory should go to Jim O'Reilly, Sioux forward, who scored 5 of the Indian's 7 points in the two overtime periods.

The box score:

Team	FG	FP	TP
Ferguson, rf	2	6	7
O'Reilly, rf	1	2	4
Decker, lf	1	1	2

Tungsten Ores

Tungsten ores such as wolframite, hubnerite, scheelite, etc. are found to some extent in many of the western states, particularly Colorado, Arizona and California. It is of great value in the manufacture of hard steels, electric lamp filaments, etc. During the war its price rose from $8 per lb. (20 pounds of tungsten trioxide) to $110 or more a unit.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE YOU TO SELECT A CIGAR?

When you step up to a cigar counter—what happens? Do you look at this cigar—and that cigar—wondering just which offers you the best value for your money?

You could try them all—of course. But why waste time and money? Why sacrifice the pleasure you should be getting now from a cigar that really pleases your taste?

We can't promise that Bayuk "Phillies" is the cigar you will enjoy most to smoke. But we can tell you that more men prefer Bayuk "Phillies" than any other cigar now offered for sale. Sales records prove it.

Bayuk's Guarantee explains the amazing popularity of this fine cigar... America's most successful 10c value now selling for 5c.

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (famously known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Domestic and Havana long filler. It's the same identical cigar.

HLY CLUB HELD

MEETING WEDNESDAY

Wednesday night in the Y. M. C. A., the Boys' Hly Club of the high school held their weekly supper meeting and had as their guest speaker the Rev. J. T. Legg of Port Jervis, who spoke on the Lenten topic, "Prayer."

Preceding Mr. Legg's talk, President Harold Baltz presided over a short business session. Among the items of business discussed were plans for the second annual Hly Club, cabaret style, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday, April 2, a plan for members of the Hly Club to go to New York city for three days during the Easter school recess and several other lesser important items of business.

Mr. Baltz then introduced the Rev. Mr. Legg, who spoke on a topic of his own choice, "Prayer." During Mr. Legg's talk, he defined prayer as "thinking in the presence of God" and he also brought out many interesting facts about prayer among which was the fact that when praying, a person sees a Godseye view of the world we live in.

Sinister Web of Fact Woven Into Fire Cause

Fire Officials See Legend "Dead Men Tell No Tales" Written in Background of Tragedy Which Killed Seven—Murder Witness Escaped.

New York, March 22 (P)—Behind Wednesday's important fire with its seven deaths, fire officials saw today the legend "Dead men tell no tales." The words of a sinister etymology from the following facts: Joseph Maldanzo was strangled to death last September in front of the tenement at 1207 Second avenue, where seven persons including four children were burned to death early yesterday.

A resident of the tenement, police withheld his name, is an important witness of the state in the trial next week of Colangelo Minetta for Maldanzo's murder. Certain circumstances in connection with the fire led to the belief that the death of this witness was sought so that his testimony would not be available.

Mrs. Consuela Maldanzo, widow of the murdered man, said several threats had been made against her life.

"They threatened to hurt me if I took the witness stand," she said.

Whether she was able to name the persons who approached her with threats, police did not say.

The witness who may have been escaped from yesterday's fire.
